

The South Bay Harbor Trail

A New Connection to Boston Harbor

Mayor Thomas M. Menino

Massachusetts Secretary of Transportation Bernard Cohen

Save the Harbor/Save the Bay President Patricia A. Foley

Gillette Director of Massachusetts Government and Community

Relations Brian E. Hodgett

invite you to join them as they unveil the wayfinding system for the

South Bay Harbor Trail

Friday, November 7th, 2008

10:00 a.m.

Binford Street Park on Fort Point Channel

Gillette Campus

Boston, Massachusetts

For directions, please visit www.savetheharbor.org

Please RSVP to Save the Harbor/Save the Bay: (617) 451-2860 x8

The South Bay Harbor Trail is a 3.5 mile-long pedestrian-friendly urban bike trail that will connect Lower Roxbury, the South End, Chinatown, and Fort Point Channel to Boston Harbor at Fan Pier in South Boston. It will also connect these neighborhoods and Boston Harbor to the Emerald Necklace.

For centuries Boston Harbor has been at the heart of our great waterfront city. Today, with miles of HarborWalk, the Rose Fitzgerald Kennedy Greenway, the 34 islands of the Boston Harbor Islands National Park, five public swimming beaches and some of the cleanest water in urban America, Boston's Harbor and waterfront are a great place to ride a bike, to take a walk, to swim, to fish, to sail, and to enjoy!

